NOTE: REGARDING SERVICE INSTALLATION

KIUC currently has two types of meter connections. If a non-smart meter is installed at your location, the service representative will leave the main breaker in the off position for safety reasons. The main breaker is usually located at the meter socket. A black, tag on the meter seal indicates that electric service is available. You will need to turn on your main breaker to allow power to flow.

If a smart meter is installed at your location, the main breaker should already be in the "on" position. For safety reasons, the meter will display "arm" to indicate power is ready to be received. To allow power to flow, press the black button on the face of the meter. The display will change from "arm" to "cls". If power is not available, the meter will display "opn".
